A Team-Building Experience with Director and Master Teacher

You Are Your Game

You Are Your Game

Your team can be more effective, more harmonious and more creative.

In theater, a good director builds a team for each project – a team that delivers on time and on budget, while working cooperatively and communicating clearly; ultimately this team delivers a creative product ready to face the toughest critics!

Arne Zaslove's ensemble-building expertise has been sought out by Cirque du Soleil, teams creating Broadway-bound shows, producers and training programs all over Canada, Europe and the United States.

Arne Zaslove will show you how to achieve your team's ultimate best in his 2-day workshop. You will learn to:

- Form better teamwork by establishing chemistry among members.
- Liberate the imagination, which will inspire creative thinking.
- Build trust between the team members so they can appreciate and bring out the best in each other.
- Identify strengths and weaknesses to discover new paths for improvement while helping each individual rise to his or her full potential.
- Empower and validate each member, to present his or her ideas clearly and effectively.

In this fun, safe environment, participants learn to trust their own abilities and make a more effective contribution to the team effort. Arne will show you, as a manager:

- How to 'read' people and pick a team.
- How to frame the team so they work well together.
- How to lead the team, creatively, towards excellence and profitable results.

Leadership skills are important...but when everyone is trying to lead, your team becomes divided. Sometimes 'followership' is important too. Your staff members will learn when to trust themselves to take the lead...and when it's right to lend their support to someone else's good idea. These skills result in a more efficient and satisfying collaboration.
